JOSEPH SPENCE KILLED IN FALL AT MONESSEN

Well Known North Charleroi Young Man Meets Death During Early Morning—Body Found Later by Workmen

After he had been dead from a fall fully an hour the body of Joseph Spence, aged about 22 years the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Spence of North Charleroi was found near his crane at the Monessen plant of the Pittsburg Steel company this morning about 5 o'clock. Spence is supposed to have become dizzy while at work and to have fallen from the crans stand to his death. His skull was fractured and other injuries showed on his body when found.

Spence complained of feeling unwell when he went to work Thursday evening and asked to be off for the night. He remained however upon request and attended to his duties as craneman with his usual diligence.

No one was near when he dropped from his 35 foot perch, but from the position of his body and the evidence of his apparent illness the night before it is supposed by the workmen who found his body that he simply became light headed and toppled over.

Spence was a well known young man and a member of a well known family at North Charleroi. Besides his parents one sister, Mrs. Grover Teagarden of Charleroi and four brothers, Henry, William Edward and Alvin Spence survive. An older son Robert was killed when struck by a stone hurled by blasting along the Pittsburg Railways tracks several years ago when the Pittsburg through line was being built. He was sitting along the river s hore at the time.

The body of young Spence was first taken to Wright's morgue in Monessen and then brought to the undertaking rooms of Lawrence B. Frye in Charleroi, later to be taken home.

IS SERIOUSLY BURNED WHEN HER CLOTHING TAKES FIRE FROM WAX

Mrs. J. H. Huggans of Brownsville Suffers Terrible Wounds—Rolls in Grass to Put Out Flames.

Her clothing practically burned from her body when they caught fire from sealing wax while she was canning preserves at her home Thursday evening, Mrs. J. H. Huggans, wife of the general agent of the Pennsylvania railroad is thought to be in a critical condition.

Mrs. Huggans' clothing caught when she reached over the top of the flaming wax to put it out if possible. She was ablaze from head to foot in a few moments.

Rushing into the yard of her home, Mrs. Huggans threw herself on the ground and rolled over and over in the damp grass until she had quenched the flames. Neighbors were then attracted and Mrs. Huggans who was suffering greatly was carried into her home and a physician summoned.

The physician was unable to state late last evening the full extent of the injuries received by Mrs. Huggans.

CHARLEROI TOURISTS RETURN FROM THE WEST

Local People Took Tour With Governor Brumbaugh and His Party to Attend Pennsylvania Day Ceremonies at Exposition.

Charleroi members of Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh's tour party to the Panama-Pacific exposition returned home Thursday afternoon, after having left the Governor and eastern members of the party at Pittsburgh. Local tourists were Charles F. Thompson, treasurer of the Pennsylvania Panama-Pacific Exposition commission, Mrs. Thompson Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Daly and Mrs. Athalia McKean. The party left August 23.

The itinerary included visits to the Pacific coast states to Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Utah, Oakland Pier, Califfornia and other points. Pennsylvania Day was celebrated at the exposition on September 4, and the trip homeward was begun Sunday, September 5. Stops were made at Shasta Springs, Cal., Portland, Ore., Seattle and Spokane, Wash., points in Montana and Wyoming and at Yellowstone park among ithers on the homeward journey.

The trip was a notable one as well as an historical one of recognized importance. Ceremonies on Pennsylvania day were centered around the beautiful Pennsylvania building at the exposition, which was dedicated on March 18 by Hon. John K. Tener, of Charleroi, representing Governor Brumbaugh and five members of the commission, including Mr. Thompson.

LADIES' NIGHT TONIGHT AT THE NEW MOOSE TEMPLE

THURSDAY BIG NIGHT IN MOOSE DEDICATION

Minus some of the best speaking talent previously announced to come for the Thursday night events in the dedication of the new temple of Charleroi lodge, No. 303 Loyal Order of Moose, the local lodge still had what might truly be called a "big" program. There was a monster crowd on hand and those who were fortunate enough to squeeze their way into the packed lodge room were given a treat in the speaking line.

Thursday night was Donora and Monongahela night and a good sprinkling of members was on hand

C. M. GREER — For County Commissioner

In selecting candidates for the different offices to be filled at the coming election, there is none of greater importance than that of County Commissioner. Practical business men and men who have made a success of their own business should be selected.

C. M. Greer, who is an aspirant for this office, is especially well qualified for it because of the extensive purchases he has made of coal, surface and all kinds of real estate in Washington and adjoining counties during the last 14 years and also because of his thorough knowledge of the quality of the coal in the various townships of Washington county, which knowledge was acquired by witnessing chemical tests of said coal.

Mr. Greer believes the building of good roads is of greatest importance. Build of the best material at least expense. It has been demonstrated that the macadem roads built of Washington county limestone are a failure and it is quite evident that they will be entirely worn out by the time the bonds of the same are paid. Brick of a standard quality such as has stood the test from a weather and wear stand point has proven to be the most economical in the end.

He recommends the building of all main roads through the county first—then build the feeders to the main lines. The first main road to be improved should be to connect with Allegheny county. Quite frequently there are men of wealth in the city of Pittsburg who wish to purchase farms. When asked to locate in our county they object on account of the few miles of the unimproved roads next to the county lines—thus handicapping the development of our county.

Mr. Greer is oposed to the purchasing of any surface or ground for the purpose of erecting an insane asylum in our county, as he claims there is ample room on the County Home farm located at Arden for the erection of an insane asylum when the county is compelled to build an institution of this kind, which is not far distant. He claims that one power house would furnish light, heat and power for both institutions and could be operated at the expense of one engineer and expenses could be curtailed by operating both institutions jointly. Mr. Greer has consulted with physicians in the county and they are of the opinion that there would be no objection to locating the insane asylum at the county farm from a medical standpoint. These improvements should be made only at such time as the finances of the county will justify.

If elected, Mr. Greer will accompany engineers, inspectors and contractors frequently where improvements are being made and paid for by the taxpayers of Washington county.

He also promises faithful performanc of the duties connected with this office, which duties include the protection of the famers, manufacturers, corporations, business men and laborers in the county. 80-t1—*

NUMEROUS CANDIDATES VISIT IN CHARLEROI ON THURSDAY

Aspirants for Practically Every County Office on Hand to Shake Hands With Friends

Candidates for county offices were numerically strong in Charleroi Thursday night to meet crowds attending the Moose club dedication. Most of them came to Charleroi during the day time and had an interesting time shaking hands with old friends and making new friends.

The two leading judicial candidates were here, Norman Emmet Clark and Robert W. Irwin, together with aspirants for nearly every other office within the county's gift. Among those on hand during all or a part of the day were J. C. Murphy, T. J. Underwood, and John W. Quivey for sheriff: Dr. Alexander and A. T. Craven for treasurer: T. C. Luellen, John O. Watson, C. M. Greer, R. A. Johnson and M. M. Hemphill for county commissioner: Boyd C. Parshall and Charles S. Ritchie for register of wills. All are Republican candidates. The Democratic candidates here included Jos T. S. Cowen of Roscoe. A. P. Barnum of Allenport. Dr. T. M. Faddis of Charleroi, and Dr. D. Brightwell of Washington for county commissioner.

TINY GIRL HAS LIONS AND TIGERS FOR PETS

Now comes little Miss Catherine Wallace, aged four years, "a child of the sawdust ring"—her mother, Mrs. Rose Wallace, is wardrobe mistress for the Barnum and Bailey circus which exhibits here Wednesday, Sept 22 and throws a bomb into the camp of little girls who think they are in the seventh heaven of delight when they are cuddling their dollies or stroking the silky fur of their kittens.

Little Miss Wallace says that the average girl does not know what a real, honest-to-goodness pet is. She is partial to wild animals for pets, and will stroke the ear of a lion with the same kindness and love that other little girls show in putting their dolls to bed. They all know and love her, and if she pets the lion too much the leopard and the tiger get jealous. The little girl's fun with her wild pets is strictly a personal and private matter and she detests intruders. Right now her "family" consists of a baby tiger and a baby leopard. None of the animals are more than a few months old and they scamper and play around with the little girl and are the best of friends—as long as she treats them alike. The little girl is not loth to pose for her picture. She gathers her pets about her and grins happily.

"My pets are better than dolls," she lisps. "I'd rather play with my lion and my tiger and my leopard than to play with dolls and kittens. They can almost talk to me. We have lots of fun, a heap more than I could have with dolls."

The menagerie with the circus this year is larger than ever and many notable additions have been made. The circus, itself, comes in an entire new dress and with a world of new features. A new pageant descriptive of Lalla Rookh's departure from Delhi opens the program and there are more European features than ever before and all of them new to America.

NEW MOOSE TEMPLE SPLENDID EDIFICE

Good Arrangements of Rooms and Equipment Feature Building—Lodge Room at the Back on the First Floor.

Splendid in every particular and a lodge home of excellent arrangement is the new $30,000 Moose temple, the latest addition to Charleroi's list of club houses. Well located on McKean avenue near Seventh street the edifice is one that adds consideraoly to the appearance of that section of the town.

The front of the new temple is naturally a most attractive part, with its two large porches and the four large supporting columns. These porches with the tall, beautiful columns and the architectural beauty of the front of the temple set it off wonderfully well.

To the right as one enters the temple is a reception room and to the left a card and reception room. In the rear is the large square lodge room finely fitted and arranged with a large seating capacity.

On the second floor are the ladies' sitting room and the library. Sufficient storage rooms and toilet accessories are provided. On the basement floor is located the game room and social room. The entire building is handsomely furnished.

The new Moose home is the third of the kind in Charleroi the B. P. O. Elks and the Turn Verein having preceded the Moose in the building line. The Fraternal Order of Eagles is planning to begin the erection shortly of a new club house on McKean avenue.

JEWISH PEOPLE TO CELEBRATE DAY OF ATONEMENT SATURDAY

In the day of Atonement the second Jewish holiday of this month will be celebrated over Saturday. The initial service will be held this evening. All tomorrow will be devoted to it. The ritual of the day is public and congregational; but its significance is personal.

The day brings the people together because they share the limitations of human nature and because they are equally aware of the fact that our careers, whatever they may be to others, satisfy or dissatisfy ourselves in accordance with our moral or immoral interests. This Holy Day gives opportunity for earnest thought on the inner life. The difficulties men encounter in the course of a busy year may prove, after self examination to be not "decrees" of God but instances of their shortcomings. The ancients frankly and humbly called them "sins."

One phrase of the ritual of the day is the thought and memory of the dead. Each man thinks of the void that has come into his career through the loss of kindred and of the obligations he has because of it. And all think of the eminent dead of the men the efficiency and world influence who have served and advanced the good of the world. In this, too, there is evidence of the democracy of Judaism. Whatever their origin or place, the great and good are mentioned with appreciation.

The Day of Atonement is a day for inner peace and accordingly, the Jews re-assert their loyalty to peace for themselves and for mankind. By the assertion of the better self they broaden into good will for fellowmen.

AN UNSEASONABLE VISITOR

With a heat wave that breaks all the records of the year and all September records since the weather bureau was established, it is quite natural that the weather is a favorite, though not a favored topic. The closing of the public schools early during the afternoons was a wise move, declares the Pittsburg Gazette-Times. Children are great sufferers from the confining influence of the school room during the opening weeks of the term, and when such torrid heat as prevailed yesterday and the day before is added, the restraint becomes a positive infliction. For the older people who must be exposed to the visitation, and whose duties will not permit relaxation, the present warm wave carries with it unusual discomfort, all the more unbearable because so late in the season and following a summer of great coolness. August was especially disagreeable and unseasonable, and very many people not only believed that the summer was over but began to adjust themselves to cold weather. The reaction to sudden and extreme heat is very trying upon health and temper. Although it is mid-September the wise course would be to revert in habits and thought to mid-July, and take the same precautions against over-exertion and unwise eating and drinking that would be enforced during the usually hot weather season.

It is, at least, comforting to know that present conditions cannot last long. Though the weather man insists that the snow and frosts that hold Montana in their grip will hardly break through the barrier of heat in the Mississippi Valley, the natural order of the seasons will shortly put an end to a weather infliction that is just now causing so much discomfort in this latitude.

Governor Brumbaugh and his party of state tourists are planning a trip through this region and will make a very brief stop in Charleroi the first week of October. There won't be much time to celebrate, but we might at least try to make the governor and his party feel at home during their stay of a few minutes.

There is a county primary election on September 21. There is also a municipal primary election on the same date.

There need be no official announcement that straw hats will be the correct thing to wear until the warm weather lets up. Everybody knows that.

The new Moose building is a structure that enhances considerably the appearance of McKean avenue. Charleroi has several nice edifices and can stand a few more.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Mrs. Wharton's vivid narrative of her experiences "In Lorraine and the Vosges" appears in the October Scribner. She makes one fully realize the ruin left in the wake of the German advance. She was taken even into the first-line trenches. This is the spirit of the entire French army:

"While we chatted with the surgeon a soldier came in from the trenches: an elderly, bearded man, with a good average civilian face—the kind one runs against by hundreds in any French crowd. He had a scalp-wound which had just been dressed and was very pale. The Colonel stopped to ask a few questions, and then, turning to him, said: 'Feeling rather better now?'

"'Yes, sir.'

"'Good. In a day or two you'll be thinking about going back to the trenches, eh?'

"'I'm going now, sir.' It was said quite simply and received in the same way. 'Oh, all right.' the Colonel replied, but he left his mind on the man's shoulder as he went out."

"Well, how are you today?" asked the doctor.

"I don't feel a bit better, doctor," said the patient.

"Did you take the medicine as I directed?"

"What medicine?"

"Why, that prescription I gave you yesterday. Didn't you get it filled?"

"You mean that piece of paper you gave me when I went out?"

"Yes. That was a prescription."

"Oh I thought it was a receipt for the two dollars."

Forces to Be Destroyed.

The forces of nature we must endeavor to avoid. Working blindly as they do we can do nothing to overcome them. At most we can avoid their destructive influence and alleviate the suffering they give rise to. But the forces that are thrust out by ourselves, that spring from our own minds, must be controlled and overcome. They are primitive. They are brutal. They are animal forces. Against these we must direct our energies.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Coroner Heffran has made a remarkable record in the importont office of Coroner. In the past seven years he has handled approximately 1500 cases. Of this number but tour were laid before the grand jury after a coroner's jury had exonorated the persons involved and in no such case did the grand jury return a true bill, thus showing the care with the cases which were handled at coronial hearings. Of the cases sent to the grand jury from the coronial trial or hearing but one was ignored.

Newer if Not Better.
"Can't you use a less hackneyed expression than 'He hiked for the tall and uncut timber?'" asked the editor. "Well," said the young reporter, "I might say 'He beat it to the forest reserves, where the weeping willows have never had their eyeglasses trimmed.'"

Some Progress, Anyway.
There are still many discouragements and backsets along the path of progress, but our memory goes back to the time when frequently one of the chief worries of a campaign manager was how to keep the candidate sober.—Columbus (Ohio) Journal.

What a Girl Can Do.
One of the authorities was asked whether a girl can love two men at the same time. Probably not. But she can give a sufficiently lifelike imitation of the passion to fool both of the men.—Topeka Capital.

AMONG THE THEATRES

COYLE—CHARLEROI

Manager Coyle presented still another of his strong weekly programs at the Coyle theatre this week. One of the headliners for the entire week was Marguerite Clark in "The Seven Sisters," that was produced on Wednesday. In this production the famous Miss Clark was at her best. On Wednesday "The Little Blonde Girl in Black" and "The Royal Family" were two strong dramas that were presented. In scenic effect and staging both were of unusual merit and naturally won a place in the hearts of local theatregoers. Carlyle Blackwell and Ina Claire appeared in "The Puppet Crown" in a Thursday presentation. The first of next week will be featured by one of Mary Pickford's best characterizations in the drama, "Raga." This famous picture is billed for showing on Tuesday night. On Saturday night of this week a Charley Chaplin comedy will be a feature.

PALACE—CHARLEROI

An exceptionally interesting program of motion pictures and vaudeville was presented at the Palace theatre this week. The ever popular Charles Chaplin was featured in a two-reel special "The Bank" on Monday. This is thought to be one of the best pictures that has ever featured this comedian. Tuesday the second chapter of "The Mystery of the Grand Hotel," serial picture was shown. Each installment of this serial is a complete story. Wednesday Edith Storey was featured in "A Florida Enchantment", a five part production. The vaudeville program was comprised of Will Adams, with a musical and novelty act, Harris and Nagel a team of clever girls in a dancing number and Howard and Mills comedians. All these numbers proved to be a pleasing divertisement. The attraction for Monday at the Palace will be "The Tangle" with Anita Stewart in the leading role.

MAJESTIC—CHARLEROI

An unusually attractive program of motion pictures was presented at the Majestic theatre this week. Monday Margarita Fischer was featured in "The Girl From His town." Tuesday the feature picture was the Geoge Klein production of "The Woman Next Door," with Irene Fenwick enacting the leading role. "Reaping the Whirlwind" with Jackie Saunders in the stellar role was Wednesday's feature. The eighteenth chapter of the serial picture, The Diamond From the Sky and "Heart's Abaze" were the two leading pictures of Thursday's program. One of the leading features of the week was the music rendered by an orchestra of local musicians on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Announcement is being made of "The Galloper" which will be shown Monday of next week and of "The Money Masters" and "A Beloved Vagabond" for other dates in the near future.

ALVIN—PITTSBURG

In "The Bird of Paradise," which will be seen at the Alvin Theatre for one week, commencing Monday evening, September 20, we will see a play that is now in its fifth season on the road. "The Bird of Paradise" is a sound ethical, political and racial lesson. It is also a strong, virile drama and contains a thoroughl absorbing love story. In brief it deals with the love adventures of a young American physician, who falls in love with a native Hawaiian girl named Luna, who is endowed with all the seductive charm that these beautiful native women possess, but although in part a member of the Christian church, yet she has all the untamed passion of the savage. Another man who is a human derelict, is lifted out of the mess he has made of life, through the pure influence of an American girl, Diana, and finally takes his place in the world a man again.

NEW DAVIS—PITTSBURG.

Favorite stars of musical comedy, the drama, the opera and the music halls will make refined vaudeville performances in the New Davis theatre the week beginning Monday afternoon, September 20, highly artistic divertisement. Nora Bayes, the American singing commedienne, will be there with a selection of new exclusive songs. Miss Bayes, who starred with the Weber and Fields all-star company, Ziegfield's "Follies," "Little Miss Fixit and "Maid in America," has ever been welcomed in the varieties and her engagement here next week promises to emphasize particularly her popularity in Pittsburg. Another star in the bill next week whose coming cannot fail to arouse pleasantest anticipations is Julian Rose, late of "Potash and Perlmutter." Mr. Rose will be recalled as the Abe in that highly successful road show. In vaudeville he will introduce humorous delineations of Hebrew characters, presenting a monologue abounding with bright sayings and facile in its depiction of Hebraic eccentricties. Mr. Rose has made a world tour recently, visiting particularly South Africa, Australia, England, Ireland and Scotland. Santly and Norton, a couple of singers, will render comic songs with humorous trimmings. A few minutes at the piano, a little bit of travesty and a touch of charterization—these are the trimmings. "General" Ed. Lavine, who is back from the front will tell how he has "soldiered" all his life and between his merry jests will do a bit of juggling. Prevost and Brown promises a few minutes of foolishness in which they will do some acrobatic stunts that are grotesque. In addition to a variety of other attractions of the same Keith quality, Mr. Davis program next week will include a special view of exclusive moving pictures.

OLD DEEDS RECALL INTERESTING HISTORY

Two old deeds that recall some interesting history of the early settlement of the Monongahela valley have just been recorded in the recorder's office. The first one is dated August 22, 1855 and by it John St. Blakel and wife of Wood county, Virginia, convey to William Steels of Columbia, Washington county, Pennsylvania, lots Nos. 135 and 136 in the plan of the town of Columbia. These two lots are located at the southeast corner of Third and Market streets and are 100 by 200 feet. The consideration was $400.

The second deed was made November 3, 1855 and by it William Steels and wife of Columbia, conveyed these lots to John Jacques and Alexander Steel of Webster. The consideration was $500.

The town of Columbia named in these deeds is now a part of Donora, and when it was laid out just a century ago by Charles DeHaas, the proprietor had many dreams of the future greatness of his "city," dreams which after 100 years have come to pass even beyond the most sanguine expectations of DeHas.

Columbia was originally part of a farm owned by Manuel Hoover was patented under the tract name of "Strasburg." It was located in what was known in early days as the Horseshoe Bottom of the Monongahela river, and was purchased in September, 1814 by Charles DeHaas, who laid out a town plot of 270 lots. The agreement for the sale of lots called for payment of $5 down, $25 when the lots were drawn and $20 annuallly for three years. Each lot owner had the right of free coal for a period of four years from the town bank. The lots were to be allotted by drawings upon the premises.

Originally Pittsborough

The new town was first named Pittsborough, but DeHaas changed this on November 12, 1814, to Columbia, and his dream of the future greatness of his city lay in the fact that he expected to make it the county seat of Washington county. But alas for dreams. The scheme fell through and at no time did the future "city" have more than 20 houses.

John Neal thought that there were great prospects for the new town and on February 15, 1815, he purchased a half interest in the lots from DeHaas. He formed the Columbia Steam Mill & Manufacturing company and a mill was built, but this scheme fell through and the mill was never in operation. Twenty houses were built in the new town in the summer of 1815, but that was the limit of the city's building boom. In June, 1819, a postoffice was established. In a few years the lots became a drag on the market and could be purchased for a very small figure. The town almost faded away and was scarcely known even in Western Pennsylvania.

During the century that has passed since then the town managed to retain its name, which was later changed to West Columbia, and that name about all. Finally, when the town of Donora was laid out there was a boom in West Columbia, which has grown steadily ever since and about a year ago it was taken into Donora.

Little Dreamed of Donora.

Never in their most vivid dreams did Charles DeHaas and John Neal conceive of a city that would ever reach the greatness that the town of Donora has now attained. The little mill which they built a century ago and which in that day was a big project is not to be compared with the great structure that has already been constructed and is now being erected by the American Steel & Wire company on the same ground where the little plant of the Columbia Steam Mill & Manufacturing company stood 100 years ago.

Property values in the town of Columbia have advanced to heights undreamed of by the early settlers of that region. Another deed recorded with the two above mentioned shows that these same two lots which were sold just 60 years ago for $500 were sold by Mrs. Rebecca Boyd, of Donora on August 27, 1915, to the Union Steel company for $10,000.

To the Business Men of Charleroi

Prosperity and local pride are twins. They are born at the same time and grow up together. Enthusiasm for the home town is a great thing for local business men. Once developed, this feeling shows direct returns in more sales and bigger profits.

Have you ever seen a shabby town proud, or prosperous? Good paint is a powerful factor in keeping prosperity after a community has won it.

SALE OF NEW FALL
DRESS GOODS

Dependable Qualities in All Our Dress Goods and Silk in All The Leading Shades For Fall

The New Panel Princess
McCall Pattern No. 6779, one of the many new designs for October.

The Coat-Dress for Fall Street Wear
McCall Patterns Nos. 6751-6757, two of the many new designs for October.

We are pleased to announce the receipt of our Fall and Winter Dress Goods and Silks and they go on sale at once.

We are very fortunate in having placed our order for dress goods early, for there is a great scarcity in Wools and Dyes owing to the European War. Also in most cases we have held the prices the same as last year.

The latest issue of McCall's Patterns show some very smart dresses, coats and suits. We know you will be interested, for if you can handle your needle you are going to get some mighty pretty things made this fall for yourself. All we say is---Begin Early. We call your attention to our line of French Serges at 60c, all wool in all the good fall shades. Then comes our old stand-by number 535 Batiste at 60c, this is a splendid light woolen dress goods and comes in all the dark and light colors. Then comes Poplins, one of fall's biggest items, also our Premier Cloth, Prunella, Ottoman's, Gabardines, Serges, Suitings, Mixtures, Plaids and Broadcloth, and remember if you buy it at Berryman's it will be right. Value goes with every price.

Don't make the mistake of buying wearables made up of too light weights in cloth. If you want service buy dependable goods. We hold up to you quality as the first consideration, it will stand the test.

Our new Fall Silks are here and now on sale. There will be a great many silks worn and while in the East buying we could see a large use of Silks and Serge combinations for both Ladies' and Children's Wear. I wish I could tell you more of my trip East this season and of the things I saw and some of the handsome things I bought for our store. I hope later to be able to explain them more fully.

VICTORY ACHIEVED BY TACT

How Explorer Overcame the Objections of South American Natives to Face Camera.

After his startling experience, when he tried to photograph a group of South American savages, Mr. Algot Lange visited the Indians in their retreat and, after studying his hosts for several days, persuaded them to pose for him. He gives an account of his success in his book, "The Lower Amazon":

I judged it to be the proper moment for taking photographs because many of the more critical Indians were away working on a large canoe. It was a risky act to bring forth again "the little black thing that grows big and has an evil eye," but it was of vital importance for me to record my sojourn on a photographic film.

Slowly I lifted the camera out of the bottom of the knapsack. I took the back off and held the open kodak in front of the chief's eyes so he could see the empty bellows. He nodded and touched it. The tickling sound of the shutter amused the chief, and he imitated the sound by saying, "Tick! Tick!" Then I set the shutter on a time exposure, and let them look through the lens. That also pleased them. The chief even called the camera marakah, or plaything. I felt rather safe, and ventured to roll a film in place and set the shutter for business. I pointed it at the chief as he sat in the middle of the clearing, and saying, "Tick! Tick!" a number of times I finally pressed the bulb.

Once only did I come near a break in their confidence. When I walked down the clearing and focused the chief and the man with the withered arm, who were standing near one of the tribal prisoners, they suddenly rushed toward me, but an assuring "Tick! Tick!" fortunately pacified them. The men objected to the motion-picture camera, and I was forced to give a few yards of the yellow ribbon to each member of the tribe before loading the machine. The innocent Indians wrapped themselves in the invaluable film and crowded round the camera while I sang, "Take Me Back to New York Town," and turned the crank.—Youth's Companion

BETTER HOUSING IN INDIA

Government Is Giving Its Attention to Matter That Has Been Too Long Neglected.

One of the most prominent features connected with the present development of India is the zealous attention paid in some of the larger cities to providing more sanitary housing accommodations for workmen, says the Building Age. The need of this may perhaps be more readily understood by the statement that out of the total population of Bombay, 76 per cent live in one-room tenements, and many of the rooms are occupied by more than one family.

The tenement buildings in some instances are said to have their rooms constructed like the steerage quarters of a ship; that is, with bunks one over another. Bedrooms and kitchens are sometimes combined. Between the buildings are narrow passageways into which all manner of refuse is thrown by the tenants and which are used for drainage purposes. That these dwellings are unfit for human habitation is well recognized by the municipal authorities of Bombay, and in order to provide better accommodations, sanitary "chawls" or tenements have been built for nearly twenty thousand persons. A "chawl" in India means a building so constructed as to be suitable for letting in separate tenements, each consisting of a single room or of two rooms, but not of more than two rooms.

Frightful Record of Waste.

It is estimated that one-third of the gold and silver of the great Comstock lode was thrown away, and only a little can be recovered. Some authorities, doubtless pessimists, declare that for every five tons of coal used in industry in this country, two tons are wasted at or near the mine, lost in mining. Some of the finest natural gas wells on the continent "blew" their treasures into the air for days, weeks or even months before being capped.

Agricultural land, rightly used, renews its fertility year after year, and produces as good crops after 40 centuries as when first put under the plow. The mine has only one crop. All the more need that this crop shall not be wasted.

Coffin Made for Darwin Not Used.

The funeral took place at Downe churchyard, near Bromley (Kent), of John Lewis, aged eighty-one, carpenter, who made the coffin in which it was intended that Charles Darwin should be buried. It was afterward decided, says the London Daily Mail, to bury Darwin in Westminster abbey, and the coffin was not used, being subsequently exhibited in the district as a curiosity. Mr. Lewis twenty-five years ago made coffins for himself and his wife, and these were kept in their cottage.

Britain's Great Arms Factory.

The Woolwich arsenal in England covers 600 acres. Here are made guns of all sizes, every form of military wagon, shot, shell, torpedoes, cartridges, bullets, war signals, life-saving rockets, and high explosives. The arsenal is divided into three main departments—the royal gun factories, the royal carriage department, and the royal laboratory.

A Hungarian officer, describing the fighting on the Tyrolese mountain peaks, a mile above sea level, states that the most difficult problem for the staff is to maintain the supply of food to the troops. On account of the high altitude and the continuous physical strain they need good supplies and plenty of them.

The officer pays a tribute to the work of the Red Cross. "Our wounded have to be carried down in sheets tied to the end of sticks, and it takes a dozen men to carry one down," he remarks.

Scout duty is particularly dangerous, except for skilled Alpinists, and many of these never return. Touching on the remarkable echoes thrown back by the mountain peaks, the officer says:

"The roar of the guns is heard twice, thrice, or perhaps a dozen times, the echo throwing the sounds back and forth, and transforming a single report into a fusillade. Many of our men have been rendered unconscious or even driven mad by the fearful noise of the guns in the rarified atmosphere of these high altitudes."

Choosing the Camp Site.

Certain rules should be used in the selection of a site to be occupied for any length of time. Clay and limestone are undesirable as the surface water stands on them after rains. A gentle slope drains the ground; the liability of storm water from higher ground must not be overlooked. A light loamy or sandy soil is the one of preference; avoid damp low places and ground in which the water is very near the surface. The foot of a hill is liable to remain wet several days after a rain. The tendency is to get too near the river or lake on which a camp is usually pitched; unless the land there is well above the water, it is undesirable. Avoid a site that has just been vacated by a camp that has occupied it for some time. Put kerosene on all stagnant water—it prevents the breeding of mosquitoes; if water is kept standing in fire buckets, it should be changed twice a week or have a thin coating of oil.—Outing.

Crazy Autoists.

The recklessness of some automobilists passes belief. The Long Island railroad has been compelled to remove the usual lightly built crossing gates and substitute barriers made of heavy timber as big as telegraph poles. This action has been taken because between July 3 and July 7 there were no less than six cases in which drivers forced their machines through the lighter gates and across the tracks in front of approaching trains. If such fools were killed, it would be small loss. The trouble is that persons so indifferent to their own safety are even more indifferent to the safety of others.—Chicago Evening Post.

They Never Die.

"There are songs," said the musician, "that have never, never died. They go ringing down the ages."

"That is true, sir," Brown replied. "For the last six months and upward I have heard my daughter try to kill two or three each evening, but they never die."—London Opinion.
